MURFREESBORO, Tenn. - Junior Chad Edwards has been named Sun Belt Pitcher of the Week as announced by the league office on Monday.

Edwards helped snap a three-game losing streak by the Blue Raiders in an 8-0 win over Vanderbilt on Tuesday night.

Edwards allowed just six hits, two for extra bases, in nine innings of work. Edwards picked up the first complete game shutout by a Blue Raider since Matt Scott on March 13, 2005. It was the longest outing of Edwards' career, whose longest outing was seven innings.

It is the third Sun Belt honor by a Blue Raider this season but the first Pitcher of the Week award. Edwards is the first Middle Tennessee pitcher to be named Pitcher of the Week since Brad Robinson on March 6, 2007.

Middle Tennessee will be back in action on Tuesday, April 14 in a rematch with Vanderbilt in Nashville, Tenn. The game is set to begin at 6 p.m. and will be broadcast on 88.3 FM in Murfreesboro and on the internet as linked on goblueraiders.com.
