FIU, ASU games to be on ESPN GamePlan

10 of 12 games this year on television

Athletic Communications

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. - The Middle Tennessee athletic department announced today that its home football games against Florida International and Arkansas State will be available on ESPN GamePlan and ESPN360. The FIU game is set for Nov. 7, while the Blue Raiders' game against ASU will be Nov. 21 and both contests will kick off at 3:30 PM CDT.

With the two additional broadcasts, Middle Tennessee will now have 10 of its 12 regular season games televised including all six home games. The 10 televised games will match the most in school history for a single-season. MT also had 10 broadcasts in 2006.

Middle Tennessee radio personalities Chip Walters and Kelly Holcomb will call the action for both games as part of a simulcast with the Blue Raider radio network.

Middle Tennessee's home games against FIU and Arkansas State will be televised on ESPN GamePlan and ESPN360. ()
