Her 23 kills and .439 hitting percentage against Towson last Saturday made her the ninth Blue Raider since 2003 to have at least 20 kills in a single match and hit over .400.

Middle Tennessee will be playing two teams for the first time this weekend, both on Saturday. The Blue Raiders will face LSU at 9 a.m. that day, looking for their fifth win all-time against the SEC. Middle Tennessee will also have its first meeting with North Carolina to close the tournament that night at 6:30 p.m. The Tar Heels received votes in this week's AVCA Top-25 Coaches' Poll and are 5-1 so far this season. The Blue Raiders meet Western Michigan for the second time ever on Friday at 3 p.m. Western Michigan, the preseason favorites in the Mid-American Conference, won the first meeting between the two teams in 2000 and are 4-2 to start 2012.
